

Difference between the observed and the actual position of the radionuclide for oblique events

